India Office, August 11, 1891.

THE accompanying General Order and Despatches, describing the operations of the Manipur Field Force, which resulted in the occupation of Manipur on the 27th April last, have been received from the Government of India:—

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

GENERAL ORDER.

FIELD OPERATIONS.—MANIPUR.

Simla, the 19th June, 1891.

HIS Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, submitting, under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India, despatches from Major-General H. Collett, C.B., commanding the Manipur Field Force, and from Major-General T. Graham, C.B., and Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. F. Rennick, commanding respectively the Tamu and Silchar Columns of the force. These despatches report the particulars of the simultaneous advance on Manipur of the three columns from Kohima, Tamu, and Silchar, which were sent to restore order in Manipur and to exact retribution for the murder of the Chief Commissioner of Assam and other British officers in March last.

2. The Governor-General in Council cordially endorses the approval expressed by the Commander-in-Chief in India of the indomitable energy displayed by the troops in overcoming the difficulties and hardships of an advance without tents through a mountainous and unhealthy country, exposed as they were to much suffering from intense heat and heavy rain. The association with the regular troops of the volunteer soldiers of the Calcutta Rifle Corps and Surma Valley Light Horse in this expedition is a matter of especial gratification to His Excellency in Council, who also notices with much satisfaction the services of the Assam Military Police with the Kohima and Silchar Columns. The Governor-General also wishes to record his appreciation of the good work done by the Commissariat-Transport Department.

3. The services of Major H. St. P. Maxwell, Deputy Commissioner, Kachar, Mr. A. W. Davis, Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner, Kohima, and Mr. C. A. Soppitt, Political Officer with General Graham, have been especially valuable, while Mr. Dalrymple-Clark has done good work in connection with the transport on the Nigriting-Nichuguard road.

4. His Excellency in Council desires to convey to Major-General Collett, the Officers Commanding the Tamu and Silchar Columns, and to all the officers and troops the acknowledgments of the Government of India for the excellent manner in which the expedition was carried out.

No. 375-M—"Field Operations—Manipur,"—dated Simla, 11th June, 1891.

From Major-General W. Galbraith, C.B., Adjutant-General in India, to Major-General E. H. H. Collett, C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department.

I HAVE the honour, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to submit for the information of the Government of India, despatches from Major-General H. Collett, C.B., commanding the Manipur Field Force, and Major-General T. Graham, C.B., and Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. F. Rennick, commanding respectively the Tamu and Silchar Columns.

2. On receipt of authentic intelligence of the seizure by the Durbar of the Chief Commissioner of Assam, orders were issued on the 29th and 30th March for the formation of three columns at Kohima, Tamu, and Silchar, and for their simultaneous advance on Manipur.

3. Considerable difficulty was experienced in the concentration and advance of the force, the troops for the Tamu and Silchar Columns being furnished from Burma and India, whilst the movements of the Kohima Column were seriously retarded by the difficulty of obtaining coolie transport.

4. The columns moved from their respective bases at Silchar, Kohima, and Tamu on the 5th, 20th, and 23rd April. The advance of the Tamu force was preceded by a gallant attempt on the part of Lieutenant C. J. W. Grant, of the 12th Regiment (2nd Burma Battalion) of Madras Infantry, to rescue the captives, a detailed report of which has already been submitted for the information of Government.

On the 13th April Captain Presgrave, 12th Madras Infantry, routed 300 of the enemy near Palel, Lieutenant Grant having his charger shot under him while leading the mounted infantry in pursuit.

On the 25th April an advanced reconnoitring party from the Tamu Column encountered a considerable number of Manipuris strongly posted near the village of Bapam. On the arrival of a reinforcement of 200 rifles and two mountain guns under Captain F. M. Rundall, 4th Gurkha Rifles, the position was stormed and carried after an obstinate hand-to-hand combat with a loss of one Native officer and one sepoy killed, and four British officers,* two Native officers, two non-commissioned officers, and five sepoy wounded. A report by Captain Rundall of this brilliant affair is attached for the information of Government.†

The other two columns met with no serious opposition from the enemy, and the whole force arrived before Manipur on the 27th April, the date appointed for the concentration.

5. His Excellency heartily endorses the high opinion expressed by Major-General Collett and the commanders of the Tamu and Silchar Columns of the indomitable energy and cheerfulness displayed by the troops in overcoming the difficulties and discomforts of an advance through unhealthy country without tents, and exposed to much suffering from intense heat and heavy rain.

6. Sir Frederick Roberts desires to bring to the notice of the Government of India the services of Major-General Collett, C.B., commanding the Field Force, Major-General Graham, C.B., commanding the Tamu Column, Lieutenant-Colonel Rennick, commanding the Silchar Column, and the officers mentioned by them, especially Major H. St. P. Maxwell, Deputy Commissioner, Kachar, and Mr. A. W. Davis, Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner, Kohima, whose hearty co-operation and personal influence were invaluable in procuring transport for the Silchar and Kohima Columns, and facilitating their advance.

7. A list of officers recommended for special rewards will be submitted separately.

No. 59, dated the Palace, Manipur, the 2nd May, 1891.

From Major-General H. Collett, C.B., commanding the Manipur Field Force, to the Adjutant-General in India.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that the Kohima Column of the Manipur Field Force, strength as detailed in the margin,‡ marched from Kohima under my command on the 20th April.

2. The column arrived at Manipur at ten o'clock on the 27th April, having experienced no opposition on the way except a few shots, which were fired at the advanced guard on the 24th April.

3. The only stockade which the Manipuris had erected on the road was at Kaithimabi, and this was found deserted.

4. We arrived at Sengmai, a small village at the northern end of the Manipur Valley, and eleven miles from the capital, on the 26th April,

‡ Three guns, No. 8 (Bengal) Mountain Battery, under Captain A. H. C. Birch, R.A.

100 rifles, 13th Bengal Infantry, under Lieutenant A. Giles.

200 rifles, 42nd Gurkha Rifles, under Captain H. W. Priestley, 44th Gurkha Rifles.

400 rifles, 43rd Gurkha Rifles, under Colonel H. M. Evans.

300 rifles, 44th Gurkha Rifles, under Major R. K. Ridgeway, V.C.

200 rifles, Assam Military Police, Naga Hills Battalion, under Captain D. C. F. Macintyre.

and I endeavoured to get into communication with the Burma and Silchar Columns, then supposed to be at Thobal and Bishenpur, but owing to unfavourable weather was unsuccessful. I also sent letters by messengers (both of which reached their destination) to the commanders of these columns informing them that I would take up a position about 9 A.M. the next morning on the Ching Maikong Ridge, about 2,000 yards north of and commanding the palace enclosure, and requesting them to halt at a suitable distance from the palace walls, and get into communication with me with a view to concerting any further operation that might appear necessary.

5. During the night of the 26th information was received that the Regent with the three princes, his brothers, had fled from Manipur that evening.

6. The three columns of attack, viz., the Burma Column under the command of Brigadier-General T. Graham, C.B., the Silchar Column under Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. F. Rennick, and the Kohima Column, arrived at Manipur by 11 A.M. on the 27th April, the date which had been previously fixed for the concentration.

7. The villages in the immediate neighbourhood of the capital, the city itself, and the palace enclosure were deserted.

8. The sixty-two British subjects (natives) who had been held in captivity by the Regent were found safe and well.

9. Ample accommodation for the troops of the three columns was found in the palace and the adjacent buildings. This was very acceptable, as it had been raining heavily since the early morning.

10. The spirit and behaviour of the troops have been throughout excellent. Much rain fell during the march, and as we had no tents the men suffered considerable discomfort in bivouac, but it was cheerfully borne as became good soldiers. The only complaint I ever heard was that the enemy did not stay to fight.

11. The transport of the Kohima Column consisted of Naga coolies, and it is entirely owing to the unremitting exertions of Mr. A. W. Davis, Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner of Kohima, and to the personal influence which he exercises over these wild people, that the column was enabled to concentrate at Kohima and march to Manipur.

I venture to hope that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief may be pleased to bring the very valuable services rendered to us by this officer to the special notice of the Government of India.

12. I enclose a despatch, dated Manipur, 29th April, from Brigadier-General T. Graham, C.B., commanding the Burma Column, detailing the events which occurred on his march from Tamu; and I beg most cordially to endorse the terms of praise in which he writes of the officers and troops engaged in the brilliant action of the 25th April near Palel. I also enclose a report by Captain F. M. Rundall, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, describing that action.*

13. Brigadier-General Graham has throughout this short campaign handled his command in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, and I recommend this distinguished officer, and the officers and troops he has named in his despatch, to the particular notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

14. Lieutenant-Colonel Rennick brought up his column from Silchar to Manipur, in spite of the serious sickness and great natural difficulties he had to overcome, with admirable energy and promptitude.

15. The following guns, ammunition, &c., were captured in the palace arsenal :

Four 7-pounder rifled muzzle-loading guns, presented to the Maharaja by the British Government.

Eight 3-pounder smooth-bore bronze guns.

One 2-pounder muzzle-loading bronze gun.

Four 2-pounder " iron guns.

One 4½-inch mortar.

A large number of jinjals.

1,290 fire-arms of various patterns, chiefly smooth-bore.

940,000* rounds smooth-bore balled musket ammunition, in boxes.

972,000 percussion caps for smooth-bore muskets in box.

180 barrels of powder.

Elephant gear for the four seven-pounder mountain guns.

16. Fire-arms are still in course of collection. I have issued a proclamation disarming the population of the Manipur Valley and of the neighbouring hill tracts formerly subject to the Manipur Durbar, the penalty for the possession of arms without a licence being death or transportation. There are a very large number of fire-arms in this district, and I hope that after a few weeks the greater proportion of them will have been got in.

17. We have also obtained possession of 26 elephants, the property of the Durbar, which have been made over to the Transport Department, and about 50 ponies.

18. I beg to bring the services of the following officers to the favourable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief :

Deputy Surgeon-General C. P. Costello.—Has done good administrative work in organizing the medical service on the Silchar line. His advice and assistance are always valuable.

Major F. S. Gwatkin, Assistant Adjutant-General.—Has given me much valuable assistance and advice. Has great field experience. Particularly recommended for favourable consideration.

Captain G. C. Kitson, The King's Royal Rifle Corps, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General.—An able staff officer. Has been of great use to me.

Captain C. M. Fitzgerald, Chief Commissariat Officer.—A thoroughly competent and experienced officer. Has managed his departmental business to my entire satisfaction.

Captain R. F. Allen, Royal Engineers, Field Engineer.—Has made an excellent report on the Kohima-Manipur road, and is now engaged in arranging for the accommodation of the troops at Manipur. A very capable officer.

Captain J. Willcocks, D.S.O., Leinster Regiment, Chief Transport Officer.—A very energetic and intelligent officer; of good tact. His former experience in transport work in these hills has been most valuable.

Lieutenant L. G. N. Eales, East Kent Regiment, Signalling Officer.—The circumstances of the march from Kohima and the unfavourable weather have not allowed much scope for signalling. Lieutenant Eales is zealous and energetic.

Mr. J. H. W. Dalrymple-Clark, Assam Police

Department.—Was placed at my disposal by the Assam Government to organize and work the cart train on the Nigrating-Nichuguard road. In this work he has been indefatigable, and has succeeded admirably. A very intelligent and zealous officer.

Surgeon H. C. Banerji, Indian Medical Service, Civil Surgeon of Sibsagar.—Was temporarily placed at my disposal by the Assam Government, to organize the medical arrangements from the river base to Nichuguard. His services have been most useful.

Surgeon-Major C. H. Beatson, Indian Medical Service.—Took over charge from Surgeon Banerji on the 19th April, and is now doing good service as Principal Medical Officer on the Kohima line.

Surgeon H. C. Hudson, Indian Medical Service.—Was senior medical officer with the Kohima Column on the march to Manipur. An able officer, with considerable field experience and power of organization.

The following officers commanded their respective battalions and detachments with great credit to themselves and to my entire satisfaction in every respect :—

Colonel H. M. Evans, 43rd Gurkha Rifles.

Major R. K. Ridgeway, V.C., 44th Gurkha Rifles.

Captain H. W. Priestley, 44th Gurkha Rifles, temporarily commanding the 42nd Gurkha Rifles.

Captain A. H. C. Birch, No. 8 (Bengal) Mountain Battery.

Captain D. C. F. Macintyre, Assam Military Police.

Lieutenant A. Giles, 13th Bengal Infantry.

The advice and assistance I received from Colonel Evans and Major Ridgeway in particular were most useful.

19. I leave to Brigadier-General Graham, C.B., and Lieutenant-Colonel Rennick the duty of bringing to His Excellency's notice the services rendered by the officers and others in their respective columns.

20. It is a subject of much regret to me that, owing to the pressure on supplies and transport, I was unable to bring up the 36th (Sikh) Regiment of Bengal Infantry, under the command of Colonel J. Cook, in time to march from Kohima with the column of advance.

21. For the same reason, I was unable to take more than 100 rifles of the 13th Bengal Infantry with the column. The remainder of the regiment, under the command of Major Bingham, did very useful work at Kohima and at Nichuguard. Both regiments were eager to be taken, and both were in every respect thoroughly fit for field service.

No. 181-M, dated Camp, Manipur, the 29th April, 1891.

From Brigadier-General T. Graham, C.B., Commanding the Tamu Column, Manipur Field Force, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Manipur Field Force.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report of the operations of the Tamu Column for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Manipur Field Force.

2. A report was received from Tamu on the 25th March that the telegraph wire had been cut 25 miles from Tamu, and that the Manipuris were rising. On the 27th March a detachment of the 43rd Gurkha Rifles arrived at Tamu from Manipur, and stated that a revolt had taken place in Manipur, and that the Chief Commissioner of Assam and many other officers were prisoners in the hands of the Manipuri Durbar.

3. Lieutenant Grant, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, who was commanding at Tamu, communicated this information by telegraph, and requested permission to take 50 rifles of his own regiment and a detachment of the 43rd Gurkha Rifles (35 rifles), and proceed at once towards Manipur to endeavour to render assistance to the prisoners. His proposal having been sanctioned, he left Tamu on the 28th March. On arriving near Thobal, he found about 800 Manipuris in position there to arrest his advance. Lieutenant Grant immediately attacked the enemy, and drove them out, killing about 50 of them. He then established himself in a defensible position, where he was attacked by 2,000 of the enemy with two guns, whom he defeated, inflicting heavy loss, and held his position until ordered to retire from it on the 9th April.

4. In the meantime Captain Presgrave, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, with 100 rifles, had been pushed up from Auktaung to Tamu, and was sent out to enable Lieutenant Grant to withdraw his small force. Captain Presgrave having relieved Lieutenant Grant, the whole party started for Tamu; but Major Sir C. H. Leslie, Bart., 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, having arrived at Tamu with his regiment, was ordered to push on, and also to direct Captain Presgrave to go back and occupy Palel, and to hurry up to that place himself. During Captain Presgrave's second advance on Palel, he came across the enemy, who were evidently following up Lieutenant Grant's detachment. He attacked and defeated the enemy with heavy loss. In the pursuit which followed, Lieutenant Grant's charger was shot under him. Captain Presgrave then occupied Palel, where he was joined subsequently by Major Sir Charles Leslie, with the 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, and this place was held as the advanced position till the arrival of the remainder of the Tamu Column on the 25th April, 1891.

5. Orders had been received on the 31st March for a force from the Myingyan District, Upper Burma, to proceed to Manipur to co-operate with columns from Silchar and Kohima. The constitution of the Tamu Column was as follows:—

Four guns, No. 2 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery.

Head-quarters and wing, 4th Battalion King's Royal Rifles.

2-4th Gurkha Regiment.

12th (Burma) Madras Infantry.

With the 32nd (Burma) Madras Infantry in reserve at Tamu.

The main body of the column concentrated at Tamu on the 21st April, and advanced on the 23rd April, it having been arranged that the columns from Kohima, Silchar, and Tamu should concentrate on Manipur on the 27th April, 1891.

6. The column advanced without opposition to Palel. On the 24th April, while the main body was at Tinghaphul, information was received from Palel that the enemy had entrenched themselves in a position about six miles north of Palel, and orders were issued for a reconnaissance to be made on the 25th April to ascertain their strength, &c. On the arrival of the head-quarters of the column at Palel on the 25th April, information was received from Captain Drury, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, who was commanding the reconnaissance party, that he had hemmed in a large number of the enemy in their entrenchment about six miles north of Palel, so that they could not escape, and asking permission to turn them out. As Captain Drury had only 100 rifles of the 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, 50 rifles of the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, and 44 mounted infantry of the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry with him, and as I did not think this force strong enough for the purpose, I ordered two guns of No. 2 Mountain Battery and 200 rifles of the 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, the whole under the command of Captain Rundall, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, to reinforce Captain Drury. Captain Rundall, on arrival at the scene of action, placed his guns on a hill about 1,000 yards from the entrenchment, and commenced to shell it. In the meantime Captain Drury with his detachment of the 2-4th Gurkha Regiment and Lieutenant Grant with the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry gradually approached the entrenchment from the north, while Captain Carnegy with his Gurkhas approached it from the south. The guns ceased firing as the infantry approached, and finally both Captain Drury's and Captain Carnegy's parties, the former accompanied by the detachment of the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry under Lieutenant Grant, rushed the entrenchment. A regular hand-to-hand fight ensued, when most of the enemy in the work were killed. The mounted infantry of the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry under Lieutenant Cox cut off the retreat of those who tried to escape, and killed many of them.

Our losses were as follows:

Jemadar Kiruram Gurung, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, killed.

No. 939, Sepoy Dalia Thapa, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, killed.

Captain Drury and Captain Carnegy, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, severely wounded.

Lieutenant Grant and Lieutenant Cox, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, severely wounded.

Subadar-Major Kalpatti Gurung, 2-4th Gurkhas; severely wounded.

Jemadar Birbal Nagarkoti, 43rd Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 112, Havildar Jitman Rai, 2-4th Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 523, Naik Pirthidhan Rai, 2-4th Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 656, Sepoy Mahadal Limbu, 2-4th Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 575, Sepoy Dan Singh Chand, 2-4th Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 290, Sepoy Dhan Singh Khattri, 2-4th Gurkhas, severely wounded.

No. 637, Sepoy Dayal Singh, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, severely wounded.

No. 271, Sepoy Bhola Singh, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, severely wounded.

Of the enemy, 76 dead bodies were found in the entrenchment, and 52 outside, while the mounted infantry killed many more. Amongst the killed were two Minzawraws, named Meah and Senna Mypa (a prince), who are stated by the Manipuris of all the adjacent villages to have been among the actual murderers of the late Mr. Quinton.

The force remained for the night in huts close to the scene of the fight.

The enemy on this occasion made a most stubborn resistance, which may be accounted for by the fact that they had no loophole for escape left them.

The behaviour of the troops was magnificent.

7. On the 26th April the head-quarters of the column marched to Thobal, picking up Captain

Rundall's column en route. No opposition was met with on the way, and the force was all in quarters in the Thobal village by about 12 noon. The bridge made by Lieutenant Grant over the Arong stream had to be made stronger to allow the battery and transport animals to cross, and this delayed the column for about an hour. Heavy rain fell during the afternoon and night.

8. The column started for Manipur at 4.30 A.M. on the 27th April, and, meeting with no opposition on the way, arrived at the pát at 11 A.M., having been delayed by the very bad state of the roads and bridges. Heavy rain fell throughout the march, which made the road very slippery.

The villagers along the route seemed friendly, and in no way seemed to object to the passage of the column.

9. The behaviour of the troops has on all occasions been all that could be desired; severe marches and intense heat have been endured in a most cheerful manner, and all ranks appeared to be only too anxious to get a chance of showing their metal.

10. In conclusion, I would beg to mention the following officers:—

Lieutenant-Colonel A. G. B. Ternan, my Assistant Adjutant-General, whose knowledge of all details, promptness in meeting all difficulties, and great experience, have been of the most invaluable assistance to me.

Lieutenant C. J. Sackville-West, King's Royal Rifles, my Orderly Officer, has shown himself to be a most useful and intelligent officer.

Lieutenant G. Rippon, Staff Corps, officiating Deputy-Assistant-Adjutant-General, took up his work at Kendat, and by his hard work and the quick way in which he has acquired a knowledge of his duties has proved himself most useful.

Lieutenant F. H. S. Thomas, Staff Corps, Chief Commissariat Officer, has had very heavy and trying work in arranging for and getting up supplies for the column, and has earned my thanks.

Major H. E. C. Kitchener, Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, Chief Transport Officer, has had very hard work, and by his tact and judgment, especially in the management of the Panthay mule-drivers, has proved himself very useful.

To Mr. C. A. Soppitt, Political Officer with my column, my warmest thanks are due for the great assistance he rendered me all through the march from Kendat to Manipur in obtaining guides and interpreters, and inducing the villagers of deserted villages to come in, thus reassuring the inhabitants of the country passed through.

Major O. S. Smyth, D.S.O., commanded No. 2 Mountain Battery, Royal Artillery, and throughout the trying march from Kendat to Manipur showed himself able to overcome all difficulties. Two guns of his battery were engaged in the affair of the 25th April north of Palel, and made excellent shooting.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. Chalmer, commanding the 4th Battalion, King's Royal Rifles, has by his disregard of all difficulties and excellent example of cheerfulness to his men been of the greatest assistance to me. The march to Manipur has been a very trying one; the heat between Kendat and Tamu was intense, and the men under his command suffered much from it, but there was no diminution in the eagerness of the men to get to the front, and I am very sorry this well disciplined and keen regiment had no opportunity of showing the enemy what the British soldier can do.

Major Sir Charles H. Leslie, Bart., commanding the 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, was in command of the advanced post at Palel for some days before the head-quarters of the column arrived there, and by his tact in the treatment of the villagers and promptness in dispersing all gatherings of the enemy in the vicinity of the post showed great judgment.

Captain F. M. Rundall, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, commanded the troops operating north of Palel on the 25th April, and (as he has done in many previous instances in the Chin Hills) proved himself a most excellent officer, and fit for any command.

Captain P. M. Carnegie, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, led the attack of his men on the 25th April with great gallantry, and was severely wounded.

Captain F. M. Drury, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, led the attack of his men on the 25th April with great pluck, and was badly wounded in a hand-to-hand fight with the enemy inside their entrenchment.

Subadar-Major Kalpatti Gurung, 2-4th Gurkha Regiment, a very fine old soldier of upwards of forty years' service, ably seconded his officers in the attack on the 25th April, and was severely wounded.

Jamadar Birbal Nagarkoti, 43rd Gurkha Rifles, took part in the attack on the 25th April, and was badly wounded.

Major A. Howlett, commanding the 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, under great difficulties pushed on his men from the Kubo Valley, and by his promptness enabled me to reinforce Captain Presgrave and Lieutenant Grant on the frontier and hold our advanced posts. The discipline and good tone of this new regiment reflect great credit on him.

Lieutenant C. J. W. Grant, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry.—This officer has already been reported upon for the excellent service done by him on and after the 28th March, when he held his own at Thobal against 2,000 of the enemy and two guns, although his detachment numbered only about 80 men, having previously turned 800 of them out of the entrenchment he afterwards held. Again at Palel he had his pony shot under him whilst pursuing the enemy on the 13th April, and he also led his men to the attack on the 25th April, when he was badly wounded.

Lieutenant F. W. H. Cox, 12th (Burma) Madras Infantry, was in command of the mounted infantry of his regiment on the 25th April, and in his pursuit of the enemy did excellent service, killing many of them, being badly wounded by one of the fugitives.

Surgeon R. O. Cusack, Medical Staff, has been senior medical officer with the column, and has carried out all his duties very satisfactorily.

Dated Nongba, the 3rd May, 1891.

From Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. F. Rennick, Commanding the Silchar Column, Manipur Field Force, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Manipur Field Force.

I HAVE the honour to submit, for the information of the General Officer Commanding the Manipur Field Force, a brief report on the Silchar Column, from the 6th April to the 27th April, 1891. Its composition and strength is given in the margin.*

* No. 8 (Bengal) Mountain Battery, 1 British officer, 1 native officer, 62 rifles, 27 followers; 18th Bengal Infantry, 2 British officers, 6 native officers, 364 rifles, 51 followers; 42nd Gurkha Rifles, 3 British officers, 4 native officers, 99 rifles; 43rd Gurkha Rifles, 3 British officers, 7 native officers, 275 rifles, 28 followers; 44th

2. On arrival at Silchar on the 6th April, I found the 18th Bengal Infantry holding the frontier posts of Jirighat, Baladhan, and the Barak bridge.

From that time until the 15th April, in conjunction with Major Maxwell, Deputy Commissioner of Kachar, who afforded me most cordial and invaluable assistance, I was engaged in collecting carriage, storing rations, repairing bridges, and other subsidiary arrangements.

3. On the 8th April, as the 3rd Bengal Infantry, who were approaching Silchar, were suffering badly from cholera, I considered it prudent to push forward the detachments of 42nd, 43rd, and 44th Gurkha Rifles, as well as the Surma Valley Military Police, as a pioneer force to open up the road, construct shelters, &c.

4. The guns of the mountain battery arrived at Silchar on the afternoon of the 12th April, and left the following morning. The 1-2nd Gurkha Regiment and half the Pioneer Company of the Calcutta Volunteers arrived at Silchar on the 13th April, halted the 14th April, and marched out with me on the 15th April. My advanced party under Captain Cowley, 43rd Gurkha Rifles, had on the previous day surprised a party of Kukis engaged in cutting down the suspension bridge over the Irang river. After exchanging a few shots, the bridge was seized. The floating bridge had already been cut adrift.

5. On the 20th April I occupied a position two miles and a half east of the Kaopam valley with—

- 2 guns, No. 8 Mountain Battery.
- 100 rifles, 18th Bengal Infantry.
- 100 „ 42nd Gurkha Rifles.
- 283 „ 43rd Gurkha Rifles.
- 180 „ Surma Valley Military Police.

I held the Irang bridge with 100 rifles of the 18th Bengal Infantry and 100 rifles of the 44th.

6. On the 21st April, having reconnoitred towards the Kaopam ridge, I decided to occupy the Laimatak and the Kaopam valleys respectively with the above-mentioned details, while the 1-2nd Gurkha Regiment held the Irang bridge.

7. On the 23rd April, being anxious to visit the 1-2nd Gurkha Rifles at Kaopam, who were directed to halt as they were suffering very severely from cholera, I entrusted to Captain Boileau the task of forcing the Laimatak defile with the afore-mentioned details, 100 rifles of the 18th Bengal Infantry being told off to escort the commissariat convoy and reserve ammunition. Starting at 6 A.M., this operation was successfully carried out by 3 P.M., three stockades, as well as several positions being successfully turned without loss to ourselves. The enemy lost ten men, their commander, who was wounded, being taken prisoner. The same evening I occupied Naraing-aon, a village four miles from Bishenpur.

8. On the 25th April from Bishenpur the Foyging river and adjacent villages were reconnoitred.

9. On the 26th April the troops were served out with rations for the 27th, and in the afternoon the column moved on Foyging. Having failed to communicate with either General Collett or General Graham, I determined to advance on Manipur at 3 A.M. the following morning.

10. On the 25th April, the 1-2nd Gurkhas, who had halted for a couple of days to shake off their attack of cholera, having come up, I advanced against Manipur. I occupied the gateways of the pat, secured the temple and magazine from being exploded, and drove the Manipuri incendiaries from the enclosure. I then received the copy of a letter in French addressed by General Collett to the General Officer Commanding the Tamu Column. I thereupon sent Lieutenant-Colonel Mitchell towards Kohima to communicate with him.

11. The Pioneer Company of the Calcutta Volunteers having left half their strength footsore at Silchar, and having been attacked with cholera, nevertheless did most useful work on the line of communications. The Surma Valley Light Horse did excellent service in carrying despatches, escorting officers, mails, &c.

12. The line of communications from Godamghat to Irang bridge was held by detachments of the 18th Bengal Infantry, and from the Irang bridge to Bishenpur by detachments of the Surma Valley Military Police, under Lieutenant-Colonel Browne. Signalling stations were opened at Silchar, Namota, Jirighat, Kalanaga, Nongba, and Laimatak ridge by Captain Thomson. A base hospital was established at Silchar, with cholera and rest hospitals at Dilkush, Godamghat, Kalanaga, and Nongba.

13. In conclusion, I wish to place on record my appreciation of the splendid behaviour of both officers and men of the Silchar Column under the most trying circumstances. Exposed throughout the march to the inclemencies of the season, to hardship, sickness, and privation, all answered cheerfully to the call of duty, and worked with a zeal and energy rarely surpassed.

Where the conduct of all was admirable, it is difficult to single out any particular officers or men with a view to bring forward their names for the favourable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. I would, however, beg leave to mention specially the following in connection with the advance:—

Major H. St. P. Maxwell, Chief Political Officer.

Captain E. W. Dun, D.S.O., Assistant Quartermaster-General (Intelligence).

Captain St. G. L. Steele, 2nd Bengal Lancers, Brigade-Major.

Lieutenant H. W. Iles, Royal Artillery, Commanding division of guns of No. 8 (Bengal) Mountain Battery.

Captain J. W. Cowley, Commanding the 43rd Gurkha Rifles.

Lieutenant H. W. G. Cole, Commanding the Surma Valley Military Police.

Captain A. J. M. MacLaughlin, Commanding the detachment of the Surma Valley Light Horse.

Mr. D. J. Clancey, C.E., Executive Engineer, Silchar.

E. H. H. COLLEN,
Secretary to the Government of India.

FIELD OPERATIONS.—MANIPUR.

Simla, the 19th June, 1891.

WITH reference to G. G. O. No. 581, dated the 12th June, 1891, notifying the rewards which the Governor-General in Council had been pleased to bestow upon the Native officers, soldiers, and followers of the detachment under the command of Lieutenant (now Major) C. J. W. Grant, 12th Regiment (2nd Burma Battalion) of Madras Infantry, in recognition of the conspicuous bravery and devotion displayed by them at Thobal, in Manipur, in March and April last, and to G. G. O. No. 597 of this date, republishing the London Gazette of the 26th May, 1891, in which it is notified that the Queen has been graciously pleased to signify Her intention to confer the decoration of the Victoria Cross upon that officer for his conduct on the same occasion, His Excellency in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, with which is submitted a report from Lieutenant Grant describing the operations of the detachment under his command from the 28th of March to the 10th April, 1891.

No. 369-M—"Field Operations—Manipur."

Dated Simla, the 5th June, 1891.

From Major-General W. Galbraith, C.B.,
Adjutant-General in India.

To Major-General E. H. H. Collen, C.I.E.,
Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department.

I HAVE the honour, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward a letter from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief of the Madras Army, enclosing a report from Lieutenant C. J. W. Grant, 12th Regiment (2nd Burma Battalion) of Madras Infantry, describing the operations of the detachment under his command from the 28th March to the 10th April, 1891.

2. The Commander-in-Chief has already noted in this office letter No. 236-M, dated 24th April, 1891, his high opinion of Lieutenant Grant's conspicuous personal daring and unflinching resource, and of the endurance and heroism displayed by all ranks under his leading, and this estimate is fully borne out by the enclosed report, which, in His Excellency's opinion, may be published as an example of what it is possible for one British officer with a handful of devoted Native soldiers to accomplish by prompt initiative, resolute courage, and soldier-like skill.

3. Sir Frederick Roberts trusts that the rewards already recommended for the Native officers, rank and file, and followers in this office letter above quoted may, as a special case, be granted, and notified at an early date.

No. 2132-W—"Field Operations—Burma."

Dated Ootacamund, the 26th May, 1891.

From His Excellency Lieutenant-General the Honourable Sir J. C. Dormer, K.C.B., Commander-in-Chief, Madras Army, to the Adjutant-General in India.

IN forwarding Lieutenant Grant's report of his operations, as called for in your telegram No. 308-M of the 11th instant, I beg to enclose copy of letter No. 2079-W, dated the 7th April last, to the Secretary to Government, Military Department, and to say that I cordially agree with the remarks of the Brigadier-General Commanding the Tamu Field Force and of the General Officer Commanding the Burma District recorded on the report.

2. I consider that the admirable conduct of the expedition by Lieutenant Grant marks that young officer out as a soldier of rare military acquirements, and I strongly recommend him for the rewards specified in my letter to the Government of Madras referred to above.

3. I trust, moreover, that the promotions and rewards recommended by Lieutenant Grant for all the Native officers and non-commissioned officers mentioned in his despatch may be approved, and that every man of the small force under his command who fought so splendidly may be given some signal reward.

Dated Palel, the 13th April, 1891.

From Lieutenant C. J. W. Grant, 12th (Burma) Regiment of Madras Infantry, Commanding Advanced Party, Manipur, to the Adjutant 12th Madras Infantry.

I HAVE the honour to submit this my report of operations from 28th March, 1891, to 10th April, 1891.

In consequence of my telegrams of 27th March, 1891, I received orders from the Assistant Adjutant-General, Myingyan, at 10.30, 27th March, 1891, to march on Manipur with all speed.

At 5.30 A.M., 28th March, 1891, I marched from Tamu, strength as per margin.* About four miles a small party of Chins tried to ambush us, but my advanced guard flanked them, and their shots did no harm. They escaped in jungle. Arrived at Lockchau river at 5 P.M., the elephants unable to carry their 600 lbs. faster than one mile an hour.

29th March, 1891.—Marched at 2 A.M., arriving at Kogaung; signal shots were fired by enemy, who retired over ridge near Tunglebun. About 20 shots were fired at us by Manipuri picket. Arrived at water at 2 P.M., 12 hours' march. Found camp burnt and prepared for defence, but not held. Elephant useless in these hills with over 300 pounds load.

Marched at 11 P.M., moon-rise. Order of march,—Gurkha Light Infantry 10; 12th Burma 30; fighting party,—Gurkha Light Infantry 20; 12th Burma 20; baggage guard and reserve. Found wire cut and twisted across road all along, causing great delay; 8 or 10 shots fired from hills at 12 midnight. Found road blocked by number of trees felled across; impassable for elephants and ponies. The 10 Gurkhas cut away with kukris,† while 20 of 12th Burma scrambled over and through for covering party; suddenly heavy fire broke out above, but we were too close under to be hurt; covering party going to right front took enemy on their left flank, and after few shots we rushed them. But the Manipuri sepoy were too quick for us, and they bolted into thick jungle, and we couldn't find them in the moonlight. Found ourselves in a shelter trench 90 yards long commanding the road below. While in trench were fired on from above; rushing up found two small trenches empty. Hunted about, finding three guns, lots of ammunition, and eight or nine rough pharwas,‡ which we took along. Heard what we supposed to be wounded moving in thick jungle below, but it was pitch dark, and found nothing. Found traces of a considerable camp. Enemy must have been all asleep and surprised. Marched on at 1 A.M.

30th March, 1891.—Passed deserted Naga village Aimool down to Manipur plain, arriving in sight Palel 6 A.M. Extended fighting party of 40 as company, and advanced over open plain, with high grass here and there. But the Manipuri sepoy retreated after emptying their guns, and we did them little damage; though we pursued for three miles, we couldn't catch them up; only found one sepoy in long grass and a man who stated he was cook to the "Apprai Minga" or "Maja," the member of the Durbar who ranks next to the princes, and who has charge of the country from Manipur to Tamu. He states:—Maja got letter from capital stating five British officers and 30 sepoy killed, and two sahibs and ten sepoy prisoners of Maharaja; that Mrs. Grimwood had escaped for the present, and that all the British army had fled to Assam; could not say whether or not they had made a stand anywhere; that his Maja had been sent with six officers, 35 havildars, and 150 men to stop us coming from Tamu, and these men were in the trenches above Tunglebun (or Tignoban). Marched from Palel at 11 P.M., and made fair pace in moonlight for four or five miles at foot of hills, and then on to an embankment road across swampy field till 12.30 A.M. on the—

31st March, 1891,—when we came to a bridge over a bit of jhil,* where an elephant trying to cross got bogged, and we had to go into the water up to our breasts to unload him. Hearing of a track two miles back along the foot of hills to east, I sent the elephant back and round by it with 30 men, while we waited till they rejoined us again on the road half a mile beyond the bridge. A 5.30 A.M. came to some villages of the usual Manipur sort, i.e., a good wattle-and-daub thatched house about 30' X 20', with four or five straw huts near surrounded by a wall, ditch, and hedge, about 200 yards by 100 yards or smaller. Sometimes compounds like this stretch for miles two or three deep along a stream. We met with slight resistance from behind these walls, but soon flanked and passed through. Beyond these compounds an open plain on each side of road 1,000 yards wide. Beyond we saw a bridge burning and a line of hedges stretching away from the bridge to the south-west, the road now running north-west, and country to right of road quite open. We advanced across the plain with two sections, ten men each, firing line; two sections, ten rifles each, on flanks in support; remainder (40 rifles) 600 yards behind with baggage. We advanced rapidly to save the bridge, and were met by a heavy fire from the opposite bank of the stream when within 300 yards. Halting and lying down, we opened section volleys, and advanced by alternate rushes to within 100 yards losing one man. Then the supports reinforced to the flanks, and we all rushed to the bank of the river and poured in a heavy fire on the enemy, who were perfectly concealed on their right behind loopholes and on their left in deep trenches. Then the old firing line dashed into the water, covered by the fire of the support, and to my utter astonishment the enemy began to give way. Some of us went in over our heads in the water and weeds, but others found places with water only up to their chests, and were across and into the enemy's trenches with a splendid dash twenty minutes after their first shot. Our left hunted them from wall to wall, covered by flanking fire from our right, till we crossed five lines of walls and hedges, the enemy making very little stand. On arrival at the further line of walls we rallied, and saw a line of the Manipur sepoy in white jackets and black turbans and dhotis* mostly—some in red jackets and white turbans—in full retreat to the hills and villages 1,000 and 800 yards away. The enemy's line was 1½ miles long, and I estimated them at from 800 to 1,000 in number. I did not follow up my advantage, as all my baggage and half my men were on the other side of the river, and 200 or so of the enemy in the villages 800 yards to my right rear; but from what I now know of the enemy I might have put aside all caution, and taken the hills 1,000 yards in front with little further expenditure of ammunition. Leaving the 40 men at the line of walls, I went back and put the rear party into the compound at the east corner of the village, carrying the baggage over on the men's heads.

The enemy's loss was eight shot through the head in the trenches during our advance, six bayoneted in the trenches on their left, and six shot during their retreat. Our loss—No. 399 Muhammad Hayát shot through the head with a snider bullet; none wounded; I only grazed by bullet, which gave me no trouble. Expenditure of ammunition 1,200 rounds up to date. Spent evening preparing "12th Burma Fort" for defence and clearing field of fire, making abattis, and collected over a ton of dhan† and five or six chattis‡ of gúr§, and put men on half ata|| and dal¶; told off stations, &c., &c. Night passed quietly; pickets did not fire a shot.

The men's conduct was simply splendid; they required no leading at any time, and paid the closest attention to orders under the hottest fire.

1st April, 1891, 6 A.M.—Enemy advancing in force. Sent out 30 men to meet them in front at the line of walls to the picket there. We only fired three shots at a group on the road and dropped two. They bolted behind hill and walls. Measured ranges up to 600 yards in front of fort; found blood all about from yesterday's action. Some countrymen from south came, and we called to them, but they only shouted not to burn their houses, and we could get no information. Yesterday I had written a letter to Tamu for reinforcements, but put nothing in it which could help the enemy in event of their capturing it. I sent it by the Apprai Maja's cook, swearing him on a sword, promising him Rs. 20, and telling him that if he did not deliver it I would kill the other prisoners. They gave him minute directions as to roads. They were released on my return to Palel. I sent him off at dark, and he delivered the letter faithfully, but was captured on return and taken to the Maharaj (Regent), who sent him on to me with the orders to retire on Presgrave, which I got on 9th.

At 3 P.M. on 1st, patrols reporting enemy advancing, we occupied the line of walls 400 yards in front of fort. The enemy opened a hot fire from Martinis, Sniders, and Enfield rifles from a line over a mile long. We reserved our fire till they came to 600 yards, and drove them back with a few volleys at their densest parts. Then from the low hill, 1,000 yards from the line of walls, two guns opened fire, at first with five common shell, time and percussion fuze, and then with 20 or 25 shrapnel. At first their practice was very good, the first bursting overhead, and the third on striking the wall. Then we got the range by "sound," and concentrated our fire on the guns (muzzle-loading 9 lbs. rifled guns), and in 30 minutes both guns retired; only one turned up again on the further hill, 1,500 yards from the line of walls, and made wilder practice, only running the gun up to the crest to fire and wasting no time over laying, as the Martinis reached them there. All this time the enemy kept up a hot fire, but were always driven off on reaching 600 yards. At dark they were working round to our left flank, and when nearly quite dark I closed in on our fort, the men being sent back one by one, 50 yards between each, not one doubling. The behaviour of the men, all but ten of mine eight months' recruits, and the Gurkhas also very young soldiers, was simply magnificent. I cannot express my admiration of them.

The scream and bursting report of the shells was most unpleasant to me, who knew the small loss they could inflict, but the men, who must have had a greatly exaggerated idea of their powers, paid most careful attention to their aim, and obeyed all directions as to sighting and wind when firing on the guns.

We spent the night behind our walls in the main fort, the enemy keeping up a long range fire till 2 A.M., which was not replied to. We tied white rags to our foresights, but the enemy did not close.

2nd April, 1891.—At 3 A.M. in moonlight we commenced work, strengthening position with large dhan baskets of earth, ration sack and pillow-case sand bags, and making abattis, and continued hard at work making cover for transport till evening. At 3 P.M. I went with the patrol to the line of walls. Enemy all in position. Saw a man signalling with white flag. Went to meet him with white flag. Turned out to be a Gurkha of the 44th Gurkha Light Infantry with letter from babu prisoners imploring me to retire or they would all be killed. If I retired, prisoners would be released and sent to Cachar. Answered that if all the prisoners who wished to go with me were given to me, I would retire to Tamu. Asked for letter from Maharaj. Returned saying Maharaj would send letter. Said till I got letter I would not attack.

3rd, 4th, and 5th.—Negotiated for prisoners, I demanding at least all Gurkha prisoners, saying as all babus and civilians wouldn't come to Burma, they could go to Cachar and Gurkhas must come with me, and I would never retire empty-handed. Then they said all the prisoners had started for Assam, and I must retire. Refused to retire without a Maja (or one of the four wazirs*) as hostage for prisoners. They offered me a subadar as hostage. Refused, demanding Apprai Maja (whose flag we captured at Thobal), who is in charge of country from Manipur to Tamu. Two babus of Manipur came to meet me. Said 500 pounds of ata and 50 pounds of dal and ghi† were ready for me to take. Refused to take without the hostage. Said I had lots to eat. Babus said Samoan Juba, Regent's fourth brother, had commanded Thobal when I took it, and third brother, Senapati, Commander-in-Chief, commanded attack on 1st. That 800 men had held Thobal on 31st and 2,000 attacked on 1st, and I had killed four of their gunners.

6th April, 1891.—On 6th the enemy attacked at dawn, and I closed in on my fort, which by now was greatly strengthened. At 8 A.M. their shell fire ceased, and enemy had gained the hedges and walls from 100 to 200 yards on my front and left. Crept out with ten Gurkhas, and attacked the enemy on my left on their right flank and drove them off with loss, killing six or seven, and bolted back to fort without loss. At 11 A.M. crept out to front under my right wall and up to enemy with one havildar and six Gurkhas, and, after driving enemy from one hedge, found a party of about 60 in a corner behind a wall 20 yards off. After a very hot two minutes we got to wall, and drove them out of their corner, leaving ten or eleven dead. A double-barrelled gun with buck-shot most effective on their heads as they showed up to fire. Then we bolted in again, but the 43rd Gurkha Light Infantry havildar, Gunbir Rai, had his hand shot through; no other loss to us.

I now found we had only 50 rounds per man left and the Gurkhas only 30, and we had to submit to a purely passive defence. The men lay down behind walls, one in every six keeping a watch. I gave orders that not a man was to fire till the enemy were half way across our field of fire, but they preferred to remain behind hedges, where they kept up their fire till dark; but it was very wild, and they dare not show themselves to aim after one or two crack shots had hit their heads. At dark they retired, and we had a quiet night in the trenches.

I think it was after 12 noon on this day that the men really showed the best soldier's qualities, lying down to be fired at (and the few men on two sides were exposed to reverse fire), and one of each six taking his half hour's watch more or less exposed.

7th April, 1891.—Enemy all retired behind hill, but large parties seen going to our right rear: busy strengthening defences.

Our loss on 6th—Havildar Gunbir Rai, 43rd Gurkha Light Infantry, wounded by rifle; Private Miran-bakhsh, 12th Burma Regiment, wounded by shell (slightly); 1 driver by bullet (slightly); 1 pony killed, 2 wounded, and 2 elephants wounded (one severely and one slightly).

On 7th with patrol found in "11 A.M. counter-attack corner" 20 Martini cartridges and one 500 express cartridge and lot of blood, but no bodies.

9th April, 1891.—At 12 noon the enemy brought out a white flag, and, putting a letter on a stick on road, retired. Brought it in, and found orders to retire on Presgrave forwarded by the Maharaj. Started at 7 P.M., bringing away 20 enemy's guns and rifles, but we drowned about 1,000 rounds of their ammunition, all of Government make. An awful night, dark except for lightning, pouring with rain, but perfect for retreat. At 2 P.M. met Presgrave with 75 men and nine boxes of ammunition coming to Thobal without kits or rations. We returned to Palel, not reaching there till 6 A.M., about one mile an hour, but unmolested, and having brought off everything.

I recommend every man of the party for the Order of Merit. I think they have all well earned it, not only in attack and defence, but also by their cheerfulness in the fort for 13 days on 6 days' rations, and every man on guard every night. I never heard a complaint or doubt; they only asked to be allowed to take those guns, and they would have done it with another 100 rounds a man, all to make a "name" for regiment.

I recommend Subadar Shaik Mahtab Din in addition for the title of Sirdar Bahadur.

I recommend Havildar Chaughatta in addition for early promotion. He was first across the river, and his experience in five former campaigns, beginning with the Afghan, and his example to the men were most valuable.

† Ghi,—clarified butter.

I recommend Naik Taliemand for early promotion. He suffered from fever most of the time, but would not go sick, and many other men suffering severely from Chin fever followed his example.

I recommend Lance-Naik Fazl Ahmad for early advancement. He has all the best qualities of the Pathan.

I recommend Hospital-Assistant Govindu Swamy Pillai to the notice of the Surgeon-General. He attended to Private Muhammad Hayát as soon as he was hit on the 31st under a hot fire from the enemy, who were under cover, and he was always cheerful and active. His conduct was most gallant.

I recommend Jemadar Birbal Nagarkoti, "H" Company, 43rd Gurkha Light Infantry, to the notice of his commanding officer. His conduct of the retreat from Langthobal and in subsequent operations was perfect.

Havildar Gunbir Rai was wounded in a most valuable counter-attack, but stuck to his rifle with his broken hand. I think all the men deserve reward.

A great reason of our success was the fact of the enemy wearing white coats. Every movement could be seen from afar and anticipated. Their musketry is, of course, contemptible.

I attach rough sketches herewith.

I CONSIDER that Lieutenant Grant and the men under his command have done such excellent service as will, I trust, be recognized by the Government of India. I would specially bring to notice Lieutenant Grant's own services, which show that he is an officer far above the average and deserving of reward.

I trust that the Major-General will also be able to submit the names of some of the men mentioned for Order of Merit for the favourable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

I have called upon Lieutenant Grant to submit the names of such men as in his opinion, particularly distinguished themselves.

Manipur Field Force.

Camp Tamu, the 21st April, 1891.

No. 2250-B—"Field Operations, Manipur."

I MOST cordially endorse every word General Graham has said in praise of Lieutenant Grant and his detachment.

I think his resolution to advance against all opposition to what he then considered was the relief or the assistance of the prisoners, his gallantry in action, and his fortitude in holding on to his position is only equalled by the modesty with which he relates his story. I think him worthy of the Victoria Cross, or of any reward the Government choose to give him.

I trust some mark of the approbation of Government may be given to every man who was with Lieutenant Grant.

July 31, 1891. TOMAPHIL.

CIRCULAR from the Marine Austro-Hungarian Government to all official and harbour functionaries who may be concerned.

By order of the Minister of Trade, conveyed in a telegram, dated to-day, No. 33,736, the Marine Government decrees that—

As a result of the official notice stating that vessels proceeding from Massawa will be admitted into Egypt free of quarantine, vessels coming from the ports of Egypt will be subjected on their arrival to a strict medical inspection.

This will be the treatment adopted when the vessels have had a healthy voyage, and all persons on board are in a perfectly normal condition ; but when this is not the case, the treatment to be adopted will be decided by the Marine Government, which will be appealed to with as slight delay as possible.

ENGLAND—SOUTH COAST.—SPITHEAD.

Regulations in connection with Inspection of the Fleet on 21st August, 1891.

THE Naval Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth has, on behalf of the Admiralty, issued the following regulations to be observed by all vessels at Spithead and in its vicinity on the occasion of the Inspection of the Fleet to be held on 21st August, 1891:—

1. In order to reduce as far as possible the chances of collision, Directors of Steamship Companies, Owners of Steam Vessels, Yachts, &c., are earnestly requested to give directions to the Masters of their ships to follow closely the instructions herein laid down, and to pay implicit attention to the requests of the Officers of the patrol tugs and boats, who will be specially charged with the duty of keeping clear the Inspection Ground.

2. The speed of steam-vessels when within the columns is to be limited to 5 knots.

3. All steam-vessels present are requested to burn the best Welsh coal, so that smoke may not obstruct the view of the fleet, nor cause danger of collision. Vessels neglecting to follow this rule will be removed to a distance.

4. Previous to the hour fixed for the Inspection private steam-vessels, steam-yachts, and sailing-vessels are to be permitted to pass between the columns under the following regulations:—

5. Up to 11 A.M. no special restrictions are necessary.

6. From 11 A.M. to 2 P.M., and again after the Royal yachts have left, the course of vessels through the different columns of men-of-war is to be as follows:—

(a.) North of the central column and between it and the northern column:—From west to east.

(b.) South of the central column and between it and the southern column:—From east to west.

(c.) South of the southern column of the ships composing the squadrons, and at about a cable's distance from them:—From west to east.

(d.) Vessels on arriving at the eastern end of the southern line, must turn to starboard and proceed westward on a line southward and clear of the track they have just followed.

7. After 2 P.M. (on a signal gun being fired from H.M.S. "Camperdown") no private steam vessel is to enter the Inspection ground, and all sailing vessels and boats are to be clear of the lines by the same time.

8. The Inspection ground is considered to be the space included by a line drawn round the men-of-war at anchor, at the distance of about two cables from the outermost ships.

9. The approaches to the Inspection ground from Cowes, north of the Ryde Middle, and from the south-eastward as far as the line joining the Horse and Noman Forts, are also to be kept clear of vessels and boats, to enable the procession of Royal Yachts to pass.

10. During the time of the Inspection of the Fleet, no steam-vessel, sailing-vessel, or boat will be permitted to cross the line of the ships of war, nor pass between the columns, nor to occupy any part of the Fairway Channel between Cowes and the western limit of the Fleet, nor of the main channel between Spithead and St. Helen's Road.

11. No vessel will be permitted to follow the procession of Royal Yachts.

12. Great caution must be observed by the smaller steam-vessels and sailing craft entering the main channel to Portsmouth Harbour from the swatchway.

NOTE.—Nothing in this Notice is to be construed as absolving vessels from closely observing the provisions of the "Regulations for preventing Collisions at Sea."
